

PATERNO FELLOWS SALON

Smuggling Ukraine Westward

With Ukranian Writer and Poet

Andriy Lyubka

7:30 P.M.

OCTOBER 17, 2017

102 Burrowes, Grucci Room

Reception to follow.*

Andriy Lyubka is a writer based in Uzhhorod, a Ukrainian city bordering the European Union. Mr. Lyubka will read excerpts from his novel Carbide, which is a dark comedy about one Ukrainian writer's romantic attempt to make his people one with the European Union. In order to fulfill this dream, the writer is forced to immerse himself into the dangerous, absurd world of corrupt local politicians and businessmen. Carbide has enjoyed great popularity in Ukraine and has recently been short-listed for the prestigious Angelus Central European Award.

Paterno Fellows Salon is a monthly discussion group that features writers, artists, and philosophers who informally meet with students to discuss ideas. Let's challenge the way we see the world.

PennState

Sponsored by the College of the Liberal Arts, Department of German and Slavic Languages and Literatures, and the Woskob Family Fund for Ukrainian Studies.

This publication is available in alternative media on request. Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. Penn State encourages qualified persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing any type of accommodation or have questions about the physical access provided, please consult Barb Edwards at 814-863-4395 in advance of your participation or visit. U.Ed. LBS 18-173